

International Organ Festival

Festival Internacional d'Orgue

Mallorca Cathedral's organ was restored in 1993 and since then an annual concert has been customary, coinciding with the 'Dedication of la Seu', which in 2008 will be celebrating its 602nd anniversary. The commemoration always takes place on the first Sunday in October.

In the year 2000, on the 250th anniversary of the death of J. S. Bach, a decision was taken to initiate the International Organ Festival, which every year has brought together a considerable number of the titular organists of Europe's main cathedrals.

International Organ Festival

Josep M. Mas i Bonet and Tim Rishton at the Palma Cathedral

The last events in this IX Festival Internacional d'Orgue a la Seu de Mallorca (9th International Organ Festival at the Mallorca Cathedral) bring us two renowned international organists, Josep M. Mas i Bonet and Tim Rishton. They will perform on the 19th and 26th of October, respectively.

PALMA DE MALLORCA (13.10.2008) This International Organ Festival at the Mallorca Cathedral is organised and sponsored by the Cathedral Chapterhouse in Mallorca in conjunction with the government of the Balearic Islands and ArtEscènic.

Josep M. Mas i Bonet is an organ and basso continuo teacher at the Upper Music Conservatory of Barcelona's Liceu Opera House, in addition to being the tenured organist at the Prioral church in St. Pere in the city of Reus. In his concert he will play works by J. Cabanilles, J.S. Bach, F. Mendelssohn-Bartholdy and O. Messiaen.
