TIMOTHY RISHTON was born in 1960 in Lancashire. He was educated at Bury Grammer School and Reading University. Whilst studying music at Reading he was awarded the University Organ playing Prize in each of the three years of the course, and upon graduating, accepted a post on the University staff.

He has been Organist of St Mary's, Tadley, Hampshire since 1978 where he started a flourishing series of recitals. He has given many recitals throughout the Country, and recently performed all the Organ Voluntaries of John Stanley in London - including several recently discovered ones which he transcribed from manuscripts in Cambridge, Manchester and London.
